Dear Hanze Foods team,

Streamlining a monthly close while navigating an active ERP migration requires precise general ledger architecture and a disciplined approach to reporting routines. Having recently managed the accounting operations for two manufacturing entities during a system implementation at Verhoeven Dairy Group, I offer the exact combination of financial control and migration experience that Hanze Foods requires.

In my current role, I own the general ledger for two entities with a combined revenue of €60 million, where I reduced the monthly close from eight to five working days while maintaining zero material audit adjustments across consecutive cycles. During our migration to SAP Business One, I mapped more than 400 general ledger accounts, established standardized workflows, and trained team members to safeguard data integrity through the transition. My background in food manufacturing, coupled with advanced proficiency in Dutch GAAP, financial automation, and costing support, allows me to manage complex entity accounts independently while contributing directly to your new system setup.

I welcome the opportunity to bring steady ledger management, flawless compliance, and practical migration expertise to your finance team as Hanze Foods continues to serve retailers across the Benelux.

Kind regards,

Pieter van der Berg
