Dear Kaffa Roasters team,

Reorganizing line flow to halve customer wait times during the Lyon Street Food Festival taught me that peak rushes are won through quick coordination and a calm demeanor—exactly the mindset needed when Saturday morning at Kaffa Roasters turns into a contact sport.

Handling over 100 customer interactions per weekend shift in Decathlon's busiest department built the stamina to keep a shop moving without losing patience or attention to detail. Trusted with closing duties and cash handling after three months, I bring proven reliability to opening and closing shifts. On the coffee side, two years of dialing in shots at home, practicing latte art, and experimenting with beans give me a solid foundation to learn your specific roasts and guide curious customers through origin profiles. Operating comfortably in both French and English allows me to keep service warm and efficient for both Presqu'île locals and foreign tourists.

My focus will be keeping the queue moving smoothly during peak morning surges while maintaining a spotless bar, bringing steady energy and strict reliability to your weekly rota.

Best,

Lucas Dubois
